

To Whom It May Concern:

The Indiana NO-Call law has been a godsend. It has allowed us to actually use our telephone as a useful tool. Prior to the no-call listing for our number, we were harassed by telemarketers to the point that we simply took our phone off of the hook between 5:30 p.m. and 10:00 p.m.. There were approximately 30 telemarketing calls per evening every day. This is not acceptable! Frankly, if the Indiana No-Call law is weakened in any way, I will have no choice but to install an automatic switch to disable our phone every evening during the prime call time period. This level of interruption of our lives by telemarketers is purely and simply harassment! Please do not allow any change to the Indiana No-Call list laws that weaken or allow loop holes for these types of callers. Thank you.

Robert Richhart